Are You In Treatment For Infertility? Do you get upset when you attend baby showers or go to malls full of baby strollers and pregnant women? Do you feel like crying when friends or family ask a question like, Are you still trying to get pregnant? Do you wish your husband would be more supportive and take a more active role in your fertility and conception treatments? Are you spending too much time worrying about becoming pregnant? Do you feel like your body has betrayed you every time you start your period? Do you feel helpless, powerless, and out of control? This Book Will Help You: Manage Your Emotions Get Your Husband To Be More Supportive And Involved Deal With Painful Social Situations Ease Your Frustrations Regain A Sense Of Control A Personal Note From The Author: This book blends 20 years of my experience as a psychotherapist counseling hundreds of women trying to get pregnant, with my own personal experiences as a woman who sought infertility treatments. I know the emotions around trying to conceive are sometimes more challenging than the infertility treatments themselves. I used to torture myself with questions like, What have I done to cause my infertility? I used to feel like crying when I saw pregnant women and baby strollers. That's why I've put together this step-by-step infertility guide. It will heal the pain, ease the frustration, and help you regain a sense of control. It is my intention to keep you emotionally safe until you become pregnant. Issues About Fertility And Pregnancy Addressed In My Managing The Stress Of Infertility Guide: Handling The Disappointment Of Getting Your Period...
